

Different Times Announced for Red Cross Blood Bank

Hours for the Campus Blood Bank have been changed to 9 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. on Tuesday at the Kelley Foundation Student Center.

Co-chairmen Alan Pruitt and Ed Turnbull were notified of the change earlier this week. Attempts will be made to schedule on Monday at the Methodist Church Annex times for those wishing to give but cannot do so on Tuesday.

Appointments can still be made for the bleed-in today at the sign-up table between the old and new dens in the J. W. Jones Student Union. Additional donors are needed for all of the times during the day, especially at 8 a. m., and 2 p. m.

Full-time students benefit under this plan, saving $38 by receiving free blood at the local hospital when the need arises for it. This is possible because the college may qualify for group membership in the Nodaway County Blood Bank Club by obtaining blood from five per cent of the student population or by getting 200 to 200 pints of blood.

The county club is affiliated with the Community Blood Bank, Inc., Kansas City, Mo., and the St. Francis Hospital. Blood is taken by Kansas City and local hospital personnel to be used by programs in the area.

Rare blood types are available from Kansas City for emergency use; otherwise the local hospital supply will be sufficient under this plan for college and county needs.

Students under 21 and not married are required to have their parents' signatures before they can give blood. Permission cards may be picked up on the main bulletin boards in Colden Hall and the Administration Building or today from the table between the old and new dens.

Walk-in donors will be accepted although donors with appointments will be taken first.

Suddaby Receives Fellowship Mention

Robert Suddaby, a senior from St. Joseph, has received honorable mention in this year's competition for a Harvard University Fellowship for its Master of Arts in Teaching Program.

Suddaby, a physics major and mathematics minor, was one of six students in the state of Missouri to receive this recognition.

To be eligible for the competition in the fellowship, a student must be nominated by a member of the faculty, and he must be working toward the Bachelor of Science in Education degree with a major in science or mathematics.

After being notified of his nomination, the student must then make application for the program. Students are selected on the basis of their grade point average and faculty recommendations.

Suddaby was nominated by Ted Weichinger, acting chairman of the Division of Science and Mathematics.

APO to Climax Ugly Man Week With Carnival for Student Loans

It's the gayest carnival of the year; it's a smorgasbord of exciting entertainment... it's the funniest thing that ever happened on the way to a worthy cause; it's the APO Ugly Man Contest.

Tonight brings an end to the Ugly Man mystery that has stirred the campus with campaigning and ticket selling this week. The Ugliest Man will be disclosed at the end of the carnival.

Symbolic Contestant

The Ugly Man prize will go to the organization whose campaigning efforts and total ticket sales bring in the most money. A second prize will be given this year for the best money-making booth set up at the carnival.

Amid the hullabaloo of carnival music, balloons, colored lights, the noise of the "Car Smash," and booths varying from the "Egg Throwing Booth" to the "Marrying Booth" with real licenses, to the final dance with free records given away, Lamkin Gymnasium is expected to swing from 7:30 until midnight.

The annual Ugly Man contest is a service project of the Beta Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity. Proceeds from ticket sales will be given to the NWMSC Student Loan Fund. The government will match every dollar put into the Fund by a ratio of 9 to 1 to make the Ugly Man Contest a worthwhile venture.

The contest began last Monday with every organization campaigning for the candidate it sponsors. An awards banquet in the nominees' honor will be given Monday night.

There are 23 booths and 15 candidates this year. Following is a list of participating organizations, the Ugly Man candidate they sponsor, and their booth theme or themes: Delta Sigma Phi, Bill Page, "Mixer-Kissing Booth" and "Horror House"; Alpha Sigma Alpha, Dr. Berndt G. Angman, "August Tea Moon"; Phi Mu Fraternity, Mrs. Avis Burnett, "Cake Walk"; KDLX, Rollie Staldman, "Superball Toss", Hudson Hall, Instructor Donald Hagen, "Egg Throwing Booth"; Tau Kappa Epsilon John A. Mundy, "Beaver Shoot."

Men's Residence Hall, Randy Wolcott, "Dart Throw"; Gamma Sigma Sigma, Assistant Professor Virgil Albertini, "Jail" and "Future Predictor"; GDI, Clarence Henderson, "Water Throw Booth"; Delta Zeta, Dr. J. Gene Russell, "Tunnel of Love."

Dr. Shaw will also speak at a seminar at 3 p. m. Thursday in Room 222 of the Administration Building.

Independents Reorganize Program To Include Social, Service Planks

Gestio Demptus Intrepide, independent student organization on campus, currently reorganizing, is planning many events and activities, according to Don Baxter, president. The organization is clarifying many of its previous policies. GDI members believe that they should be a social organization as well as a political power for all of the campus independent students. Their service aspect will retain a basic tenet of the organization, Baxter pointed out.

The Independents have outlined the following points for their re-vamping program and list past achievements as a reminder to NWMSC students: GDI supported and helped the new constitution. The Independents' candidate for Miss Maryville, Miss Rosemarie Dreager, was one of the 10 finalists.

Future plans include planning a "Winter Festival," with each campus organization sponsoring a candidate to compete for Snow Queen. A plan for sponsoring dances after football games is being developed.

The organization's constitution is being revised to insure clarity and workability.

Local Independents also are exploring all channels into being activated nationally with other Independents in the country.

GDI would like to welcome into membership all independent students of the student body who are non-Greek. Their goal is to become a closely-knit organization capable of helping to formulate campus policy and providing additional social activities. GDI hopes to give voice to the independents on campus.

The officers encourage any interested student to contact them for any further information. In addition to Don Baxter, president, officers include Ed Johnson, vice president, Tower Hall; Barb McAvoy, treasurer, Hudson Hall; Janet Erskins, secretary, Hudson Hall; John Phoenix, historian, Richardson Hall.

Under the guidance and co-sponsorship of Dr. Donald Armstrong and Instructor Darwin Boutiette, GDI believes it is fulfilling an urgent need for student involvement and interest on their campus.

Poet Lives Anew Actors, Audience Enjoy Staging of 'Evening's Frost'

By Fred Beavers

An imaginative, dramatic approach combined with warm rapport within the cast provided memorable entertainment Monday night at "An Evening's Frost."

The production of the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program effectively combined drama, symbolic setting, changes in lighting, and music to produce moods to fit the varied poems.

Frost was brought to life from the sterile pages of the literature books as a poet and a philosopher. Will Geer as the Elder Frost; Jack Davidson, the younger Frost; Annie Gee Byrd, the Woman, and Thomas Coley, Narrator, revealed Frost's banter, his unhappiness, and his interest in the things that surrounded him.

Lines from familiar poems achieved new meaning and significance as did those from unfamiliar poems when they were chronologically placed with the background of Frost's philosophy taken from his letters and conversation.

Such excerpts from his philosophical guidelines as "Poems should begin in delight and end in wisdom — like a love affair," and "I am ambitious — I only use words I hear in running speech," added much meaning to the interpretation of his works.

One of the most popular presentations of the evening was the humorous and eerie "The Witch of Coos," with Miss Byrd playing the witch and Jack Davidson as her weird son. The enactment of "Home Burial" evoked contrasting thoughts on man's attitude toward death.

The actors pointed out the irony of the discovery of Frost's poetry. A few months before the publishing of his first book in England and his achieving of public recognition, he had been judged as writing "plain American verse — too plain for American editors." Thus it was that the "most American of poets" was discovered in another country.

Too Much Blood?

Donate a Pint, Tuesday
Wesley Student Center

Despite his receiving Pulitzer Prizes, Frost remained questioning, sometime depressed individual. Part depression was caused by deaths in his family, in his wife's. Long before his death, Frost wrote his epitaph: "I had a lover's rel with the world."

"A delightful program smiles and thoughtful was how one member of audience expressed her reactions to the performance.

The audience left feeling they had enjoyed a visit with Frost, who believed that a poet "must remain to himself and let the fall where they may."

Solicitor Leaves Campus in Hurry

A man who claimed he was raising money for a government overthrow in Cuba was questioned last week by several NWMSC students and administrative officials.

Posing as a magazine salesman at the Alpha Kappa Lambda and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity houses, the man gave some of the fraternity men reason to call Dr. Charles E. Koerble, dean of students. During the conference which followed, the solicitor said he had permission from Dr. Foster to solicit money for the freedom movement. Dr. Koerble was suspicious because he knew that there is no college policy which does not allow soliciting of money on campus and that President Foster had not been in his office all day. Later, the man and fraternity members that he would be leaving the same day for Warrensburg.

Dr. Koerble alerted the city police because there is also a city ordinance which requires a person to get a license before soliciting money.

The man apparently left Warrensburg immediately because the police did not find him.

and will be voted upon at the meeting Tuesday. All nominations should be sent to Chairman Donald Robertson, Office 252, Fine Arts Building, via campus mail.

Ideas for themes will be presented at the meeting. The ideas will then be taken back to the organizations where each organization votes for its choice. The same list shall be presented at the third general session and shall be determined by vote of the Homecoming committee.

Every organization on campus is entitled to one member on the Homecoming committee. Each group is also entitled to a member for each of the three divisions (parade, float, house decorations) in which it places an entry.

An organization, therefore can have, according to the rules set up by the committee, a total of four voting representatives. Each representative is entitled to one vote on the Homecoming committee.

All organizations are urged to appoint representatives to the Homecoming committee.

Mr. Robertson, who presided over the first meeting, read a critique of last year's procedures on Homecoming, and students discussed rule changes that they may wish to make for this year's Homecoming.

The annual reunion event will be held Oct. 27-28. The grid opponent will be Springfield.

Richard J. Salewicz, St. Joseph, a freshman at NWMSC, was taken to St. Francis Hospital at approximately 6:15 p. m. Monday following a fall in which he sustained a compound fracture of the left arm, dislocation of the left elbow, and a fractured pelvis.

He was in the area above the Administration Building Auditorium, hooking light cables for a program to be held that evening. Another person was in the area tossing him the cable. The cable fell short, and when Salewicz stepped off the catwalk to reach the cable, he stepped through the ceiling tile and fell more than 40 feet into the padded seats below.

Salewicz was transferred to a St. Joseph hospital Wednesday.

The purpose of Greek Week is to unite the fraternities and sororities on campus emphasizing cooperation among the organizations.

Mark Thomas Injured In Hit, Run Accident

Mark Thomas, Des Moines, was dismissed from St. Francis Hospital earlier this week after suffering injuries in a hit-and-run accident last Friday night.

Thomas was struck down by an unidentified car while he was walking along College Park Drive. His car had become stuck in the mud on College Park Road, and he was walking back to the dormitories to get help.

Thomas, an NWMSC sophomore and swimming team member, received serious head injuries and lacerations and bruises to both legs.

Artists Complete Carousel

Artist Bill Cukar and assistant technical director Scott Hodgins put finishing touches on one of the carousel horses. Both men are members of the stage craft class which does the major part of the set work.

Men Prepare for Performance

As Kerry Lafferty, technical director, receives backstage instructions via the telephone, chief electrical technician Rollie Stadlman programs the lights for Act II of "Carousel."

"You're a Queer One, Julie Jordan."
"There's Nothing So Bad for a Woman," as Billy Bigelow.

"It is possible for someone to hit you hard and have it not hurt at all."

From the prologue to the epilogue, "Carousel" has everything — songs you know well, an unforgettable, touching story of the carnival barker who wins a sweet girl's love and always fumbles his chance to bring her happiness, an inner glow—totaling what the New York Times has called "The most glorious of the Rodgers and Hammerstein works."

"Carousel," the musical play by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein will be presented in the Charles Johnson Theater at 8 p. m. each evening next week.

Dancers, singers, actors, orchestra members, technical crew, directors have been working and studying since the first week in February to make this show NWMSC's best production of the season. The cast includes 17 dancers, 22 chorus members, 16 children from Horace Mann, 7 minor characters, and 11 major characters.

A specially designed wardrobe of costumes was made for the production by the Barnes-Lorber Costume Company, Milwaukee.

Soliloquy

Mike Miller as Billy Bigelow rehearses his soliloquy scene where he philosophizes about his unborn son's daughter.

'If I Loved You'

Wendee Beam, Julie Jordan, takes a ride on the carousel in the bottom picture as Mike Miller, the barker, and Linda Brinton, keeper of the carousel, look on.

Directors

Directors making final plans in front of the carousel are Mrs. Ann Brekke, choreography and dance; Dr. Donald Sandford, orchestra; Dr. Ralph Fulsom, production; Ray Wilson, assistant production; Kerry Lafferty, scene design and technical direction, and Byron Mitchell, vocal music.

Carnival Time

'Just Because It's June, June, June'

'I'm Learning To Protect Myself!'

Carrie, played by Carolyn Hoffman, is thrown over the shoulder of Jigger, Howard Whittlesey, just as Carrie's fiance, Enoch Snow, played by Jack Estes, walks onto the scene.

'My Little Girl'

Billy looks down from heaven at his little girl, Louise, Carol Petty, as she and Doug Harrison portray her life through dance in the final scene of the play.

Ballet Scene

Field Service Director Finds India Country of Contrasts

A 300-mile trip on a Civil War sidewheel steamer and a ride on an elephant were only two of the many unusual experiences Everett W. Brown, NWMSC Field Service director, and a group study exchange team encountered on their recent tour of India.

The team included Andrew Adam, Stewartsville; Wayne Thomson, Lawson; Keith Eulinger Jr., Tarkio; James Teegarden, Gallatin; Terry Dolan, Trenton; Dale Flowers, St. Joseph, and Mr. Brown, their leader.

The trip, financed by Rotary International, Chicago, was an exchange between District 603, Northwest Missouri, and District 325, which included the countries of India, Burma, Nepal and East Pakistan.

Traveling by such modes of transportation as rickshaw, elephant, and river steamer, the team covered 5,000 miles and visited 50 Rotary Clubs in the four Indian states of West Bengal, Orissa, Bihar, and Assam. Living in the homes of Rotarians in the various cities, the team had as a basic aim the creating of a better understanding between the two Rotarian districts.

When asked his general view of India, Mr. Brown replied, "I was impressed with India as a country of great contrast between the very wealthy and the very poor. The average income is $80 a year."

Mr. Brown observed that there has been a tremendous growth in upper secondary schools and universities since 1961; although, the 240 different dialects spoken there have been a hindrance to such growth.

CARE, Protestant and Catholic missionaries, and American AID programs are very much in evidence in India. They are providing the 80% farming population with agricultural aids and advisors so that the Indians may one day become self-sufficient people. Starvation and drought is evident throughout the Indian state of Bihar. A ration of only 8 ounces of ground milo and soybeans is allowed per person daily.

"United States' aid," Mr. Brown observed, "is more than appreciated there."

Mr. Brown related that his most unusual experience consisted of meeting the various government officials which included governors, justices of the high court, and King Mahendra of Nepal, who himself is a Rotarian.

Returning to the United States by way of Lebanon, Cairo, and Europe, the team completed a round-the-world tour.

If you want nice, clean, fresh oats, you must pay a fair price. However, if you can be satisfied with oats that have already been through the horse... that comes a little cheaper.

Guests Approve Campus Visitation Program

"The students we knew and the ones we met seem happy and very pleased with the school themselves, and I feel this is your best advertisement."

This was the comment of a Savannah High School student upon returning home from a visit on Northwest Missouri State College.

The high school visitation program is conducted over a week period and is designed to acquaint prospective students with NWMSC's facilities and campus. It includes 90 schools in a 19-county district and is especially geared to those students who are undecided as to whether to attend college or what college to attend.

The ideal result of this program was expressed by an undecided student from St. Joseph.

"When I began the trip, I must honestly say I didn't think I would be attending Maryville next year. But after seeing the hospitality in all your students and the sincere desire, I think you have a winning combination for a first-rate college. And, hopefully,

I would like to number in your fall '67 enrollment."

Two hundred and forty-three students visited the campus and were given the opportunity to live in the dormitories and attend classes. The students seemed to agree that attending classes was a very worthwhile opportunity for them and many comments were expressed in much the same way as by a Hamilton student who said, "By going to the classes I learned a lot about college classes and have lost a little of my fear of the college classroom."

The visiting students were asked if they felt the program was worthwhile and should be continued. The general expression of the group was summed up by a Union Star student. "It was a very happy and constructive time for me, and I sincerely hope that you will continue this program for the benefit of students in the years to follow."

The program is under the direction of John Fuhrman, Everett Brown, Dr. R. P. Foster and various other leaders on campus.

Dear Dr. Foster:

First of all I would like to express my sincere appreciation for your having given me the opportunity to visit NWMSC. I believe that this has, in its own way, prepared me for entering college next fall.

By touring the campus, I have become acquainted in a small way with the life which I will lead the next four years. I discovered that the members of the faculty as well as the students will make your college years enjoyable, but at the same time there is an emphasis on gaining knowledge and acquiring the ability to use it wisely. Although help can be found when you need it, you realize from the first that only you yourself will determine whether you will make the established standards or not.

I have become relatively familiar with the layout of the campus and I believe that some of the confusion which would have come about next fall has been eliminated.

Of what I saw during my wonderful visit, it looks as though NWMSC has the facilities with which any student with the desire to learn could acquire a very good education. Just my short visit made me wish that I were a member of the student body at NWMSC.

Dialogue Hears Pros, Cons Of Religious Emphasis Week

Members of Dialogue met recently with Mrs. Virginia DeMarce, the Rev. Ray Gass, and Dr. Kenneth Minter to discuss Religious Emphasis Week.

Mrs. DeMarce disapproved of the method in which the assemblies were conducted, stressing that she believed the assemblies approached a "church service" atmosphere. She questioned the borderline constitutionality of the dismissal of classes so that students might attend the meetings.

Mrs. DeMarce also stated she believed the rights of the minority had not been considered in the planning of Religious Emphasis Week. She suggested a public discussion and an over-all theme might be more effective.

In reply, Dr. Minter said he had received comments and suggestions concerning the assemblies, but he had not received any other objections to the program as it had been in the past. He added that the committees for Religious Emphasis Week consisted of voluntary representatives from the various organizations on campus. He said that Religious Emphasis Week would continue, but ideas presented in the discussion would be considered within the committees.

The Rev. Gass believes there is definitely an obligation to the individual in planning the sessions. He also stated that aspects of various religions should be discussed.
